KNIFESTYLES OF THE RICH & FAMOUS

wen Stefani credits sunscreen and Johnson's Baby Lotion for her dewy complexion, but some experts think the 47-year-old's still-youthful looks show signs of professional intervention. "She's been getting Botox to her upper face and lip, plus cheek filler," believes Dr. Steve Fallek, who does not treat the mom of three. The New York-area plastic surgeon suggests slowing down her doctor visits and going "a bit more natural." Beverly Hills plastic surgeon Dr. David Amron agrees the blond beauty looks like she's a fan of cosmetic dermatology, crediting her fuller face to "cheek augmentation with a filler like Voluma." The doc, who also does not treat Gwen, speculates she has lifted her eyelids and tightened her skin through treatments of Thermi, which uses radio-frequency energy to smooth wrinkles and tighten skin. The star's take? Following her 2015 divorce from Gavin Rossdale after 13 years of marriage, "I started falling in love [with Blake Shelton]. That's what the facelift is, I think!" 🐼
